

LUDLOW CREEK

Ludlow Creek is a group of five close friends who have been delighting audiences since 2013. Their artful songwriting and intricate vocal harmonies combine elements of Americana, Rock, and Blues. Their first album, “Hands of Time” won a 2022 International Singer-Songwriters Association (ISSA) Album of the Year Award, they won an ISSA Band of the Year Award for 2023, and were finalists in three categories in Nashville’s 2023 Josie Music Awards. In the studio and on stage, band members have played with BB King, Doc Severenson, Gary Rossington & Ricky Medlocke, Bonnie Bramlett, and other national artists.

With two full length albums to their credit and a third album to be released soon, Ludlow Creek is quickly becoming a hot commodity in the Indie/Americana/Roots Rock music scene.
